

Biography
DAVE HOLLIS
Senior Vice President, International Motion Picture Distribution
The Walt Disney Company

Dave Hollis works as the Sr. Vice President of International Motion Picture Distribution. In this role, Dave is responsible for the sales and distribution operation across 70 countries, for all motion pictures released under the Walt Disney Pictures, Pixar, Marvel, Dream Works and Touchstone Pictures banners. He works collaboratively with the country GMs in theatrical distribution to achieve mutual goals. Based in Burbank, beyond relying on in-market sales expertise, Dave also has a local Sales Planning & Strategic Dating unit as well as a Film Operations team that leads the worldwide supply chain effort.

A 10 year employee of Disney, most recently Dave has acted as SVP, Distribution Strategy, helping drive distribution optimization across the various channels of business. Prior to this, Dave oversaw worldwide product management of the Studio's Disney Animated and Live-Action, Disney Channel, Preschool, Baby Einstein, ABC, Miramax and Touchstone home entertainment properties.

Prior to Disney, Dave worked in Marketing for Merv Griffin Productions, in Publicity for Bragman/Nyman/Cafarelli and Fox Broadcasting Company, and in Research for 20th Century Fox International Television. He lives in Glendale, California and is married with two children.
